I had a good doctor | Dr. — to attend him, but he got werse, and the doctor could not cure him. His whole head face, and left ear were in a fearful state, and he suffered terribly. I caught the olicase from him, and it spread all over my face and neck, and even got into my oyes. Nobody thought we would ever get better. I fell sure we were disfigured for life. I heard of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a box of CUTICURA, and a cake of CUTICURA, sond and and the cut of CUTICURA, and a cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and used them constantly day and night. After using two tottles of RESOLVENT, four boxes of CUTICURA, and four cake of SOAP, we are perfectly cured without a sear. My boy's skin is now like satin.

THE LEE MONUMENT ASSOCIATION ON A SATISFACTORY FOOTING. An Act to Prevent the Fraudulent

Conveyance of Trust Property-The Enrolled Bills, &c. The General Assembly adjourned yeserday Unless there shall be another extra ession, of which there seems no present probability, the two houses will appear here no more until the first Wednesday in December.

The record just made up and closed shows that there were 480 bills and joint resolutions passed, and the corolment of them makes 967 pages of the Rolls; the revised Code not included. An exception was made in respect to that, and the copy as it came from the committee and revisers was by special net substituted for the engrossed bill and enrolled copy.

The bulk of the laws passed refer to ratical and improvement companies, &c., &c. If the anxiety to obtain charters for companies, whose avowed object is to develop December.

panies (whose avowed object is to develop mineral lands) is to be taken as a true indi-cation, a most unprecedented "boom" pre-vails in Southwest Virginia. There never was so much legislation in Virginia of this character. Nearly all of the members of the Legislature have left the city, and most of them were thoughtful enough before so doing to go sate the Auditor's office and get the war-jants for pay to carry to the mained and disshied soldiers among their constituents. So, already the claims of about 600 out of the 1,200 have been paid. The amount that ocs to each is $60. It is the general belief that many persons are drawing money who are not really en-titled to it. If that is so -and it is easier to titled to it. If that is so—and it is easier to say so than to prove it—the fault is not the Auditor's; it is the county or city judges', who, with the power to inquire into each case, neglect to do it.

The exception of the time for the collection of State taxes from June 15th to september 1st will, as before stated, probably exhaust the Treasury of the cash in it before the last-named date; but there will probably be no difficulty in running the government. The Richmond banks will help the State if need be. There should be no fear that the intrest on the new 3's will not be met. They will certainly be provided for.

THE GALLEGO-MILLS CASE.

Decision of Judge Holladay Order ing a Resule of the Property. Judge Holladay, of the Chancery Court yesterday rendered a decision in the Gai-lego-Mills case. The point was whether to confirm the sale of the property to Mr. C. L. Todd or consider an upset bid of Gene-ral Joseph R. Anderson offering 10 per cent, more. The Court decided to order a resale.

Mr. E. Y. Cannon, of counsel for Mr. Mr. E. Y. Cannon, of counsel for an Todd, asked for a suspending order and time to execute a bond for an appeal. Colonel John H. Guy opposed this, on the ground that Mr. Todd was not a party to the suit, and, therefore, did not have the right of appeal; but Mr. Cannon contended that Mr. Todd was made a quasi party to the action by reason of his purchase of the property and his compliance with the terms of the sale. The Court asked the counsel to point to authority to support this resultion which Mr. Cannon asked time an effort was made, as announced yesterday, to break the machine for making bricks recently introduced in Westwood's yard, in Fuiton. It appears that the trouble there resulted from a nonunion man being placed in the yard to fill up a pit. The men refused to work. There has also been trouble at other yards around the city, and, altogether, not more than half the usual number of hands are at work in the yards. Some of the employés have expressed their willingness to work for 24 per table, the same pay received before the strike for higher wages the 1st of April, 1886, and this has helped to create discord.

Lewis on the "Mission of the American Negro" showed study and careful preparation. He began with the negro when, 250 years ago, he was brought to this country by a Dutch trading-vessel and sold. He reviewed his life has always how in that state his faculttrading-vessel and sold. He reviewed his life as a slave—how in that state his facul-ties were enfeebled and intellectual ener-gies erippled. After his emancipation he had been left aimost to bimself, and many are struggling in poverty now. The mis-sion of the negro is his work. His mission is threefold, embracing the spiritual, mo-ral, and intellectual elevation of the nation. As a people improve edu-cationally to the same extent with they become good citizens. Physi-cal attraction and wealth will not answer. The brain must be polished. The negro is to improve the moral condition of answer. The brain must be polished. The negro is to improve the moral condition of the nation. He is to be the Moses of his race. Already he is called on to legislate on the most important questions. He must strive to suppress the liquor traffic. Morality must be prized as one of the best jewels. Debauchery must be demolished. Men and women must be virtuous. The negro must also take his place in the ministry. He already appears as the accredited missionary to the foreign fields for which, in the very nature of things, he is most fitted. the very nature of things, he is most fitted. His triumphant song will not be heard on the dark continent till his mission is ac-

THE IDEAL PULPIT.

"The Ideal Pulpit" was next taken up by Widnam M. Moss, Christ's was the ideal pulpit, and its simplicity should be imitated; and to be an ideal preacher a man must be nothing else. His constant query to himself should be: "How can I make clear to the minds of men the truth of the Gospel?" Instead some ask: "How can I get a fine church to worship in?" A fine house, with custions, pews, and desks, with the silver lones of an artificial CIVILIZATION AND CHRISTIANITY. J. H. Turner spoke of the "Relations of Christianity to Civilization." The first holds the same position to the second as children do to their parents. The address vas interesting throughout.

DR. COOPER. The address to the graduates was delivered by Dr. George Cooper, secretary of the Board of Trustees. It was a pleasant duty, he remarked, to say a few words to the graduates—to congratulate those who have reached a successful termination of have reached a successful termination of their studies and are about to enter on new fields of labor. He desired to make a few remarks upon two words which suggested themselves—Man!" and "Message." The eloquence of the pulpit is not an art, but a virtue. Behind tife sermon must be the man. The preaching that is calculated to make character must come from character. Preaching should not merely dazzle, delight, and fascinate. The preaching producing character in men and women comes from character. As is the man, such will be the sermon. Your work in Christian experience will develop your Christian life, and without Christian experience your ministry will be in vain. experience your ministry will be in vain.
The quality of personal uprightness must abide in you. The man who stands behind the sermon must be a man people can look up to and respect. Never ask your people to do anything you are not willing to do. You must be utterly unselfish too. Cariste ame must be utterly unselfish, too. Christe une to minister unto, not to be ministered unto, and the incarnation was the very ssence of unselfishness. Be like your Master.

"Excuse me for speaking plainly," Dr. Cooper continued, "but let me caution you, don't be conceited! Don't think too much of yourself! Respect yourself, but don't let it run into self-conceit. When you go out to your work don't think you will convert the whole world; that people from all around the neighborhood will rush to hear you when you are announced to preach. After awhile you will wonder why they come to hear you at all. Respect your they come to hear you at all. Respect your selves in Christ Jesus."

So much for the man. Now as to the message: First, know the message is given to you. As ambassador, as prophet or apostle, you simply speak for another You have nothing to do with origination your message. It is yours simply to interpret, to bring the best powers of your brain to understand it. This involves careful study of the message. Be prayerfu one message to man. In your message forget yourselves and for the time think only of the work you are doing. I pit the man who thinks of himself—his necktie.

man who thinks of minsen—his headers, his hair. When you preach be conscious only of the message of God. Lose yourself in Him.

Dr. Cooper then cautioned his hearers about preparing their sermons on Saturday night. He wanted them to begin them earlier in the week. He concluded his reserve by wishing each one success in his marks by wishing each one success in his ministerial calling. "THE MAN WHO BOESN'T GET A CALL." Dr. Landrum was called upon for a few late and the address of Dr. Cooper had been so replete with good advice he would say nothing. He wished, however, just to make a remark or two about "the man who doesn't get a call." As the Bap-tist churches exceed the number of their turers and Moniders.

Why the Caar Returned.

[By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.]

VIENNA, May 24.—The Tagbiatt has received a telegram from Odessa stating that the Czar returned to St. Petersburg from the Don Cossacks country three days earlier than he intended. This was due, the dispatch says, to the attempt made by a student to kill him on Wednesday night during the festivities at Nove Teherkaska by firing at him as he rode by in a carriage.

Miss Neille Gaines, daughter of the landlady.

Last Friday von Tilly taught as usual at the school. Saturday was a holiday. Sunday night he retired rather early, and nothing further was heard of him until the loud report of his pistol startled everybody in the house yesterday morning. The bullet ploughed its way elear through his head, and when they reached him he was uead.
He left a letter to his uncle, in which he said that he was tired of the life that he was living, and that unless it soon chauged for the better he would end it. He upbraided his uncle for the forged letter.
Von Tilly also left a will—a curious decument. He desired that his body should be cremated and that the ceremony should be witnessed by Miss Gaines. In order that she might not come out a lover

From this were to be paid the funeral expenses and Miss Gaines's legacy, and the balance was to be given to the poor. Von Tilly had many queer delusions. One was that Emperor William had magnetized bim and exercised some malign influence over him. His father, Herr Raib von Tilly, of Elolag, Germany, has been notified of his son's death. The body will be buried in America, and will probably be transferred to Germany in time.

FOUR MONTHS AND FOUR DAYS. A Trip Made in Four Days That Would Have Required Four Months Seventy Years

Months Seventy Years

Ago.

Mr. Editor: It is true we live in a fast, business age, and to illustrate it the writer left our beautiful city of bills on the 6:25 train on the Chesapeake and Ohio raliway on last Sunday evening to meet an engagement at Jackson, Mich., on Tuesday the 18th: spent three hours in Ashland. Ky.; two hours in Ironton, Ohio; five hours in Columbus, Ohio; two hours in Detroit, Mich.; twenty-four hours in Jackson, Mich.; four hours in Newark, Ohio, and eleven hours in Washington, D. C., and was back in Richmond on Friday morning for a day's work and an auction sale in the afternoon, having traversed seven states and travelled about 2,000 miles in four days and five nights, stopping fortynine hours at different points for business and layovers. What would our grandfabers say to such fast living, and who of the present generation could afford to have lived seventy years ago? What will the coming generation, with flying-machines or air-ships, as they will be called, say of our age? The writer hopes yet to see the air navigated, and he able to direct an air-ship, to stop just where he wants.
